BRUM BRUM

Proof finally that Gent Visick really is the best commercial property agency in town – when it comes to cutting corners and putting on the brakes skillfully, that is. Yes, Yorkshire's very own industrial agency won the first-ever Yorkshire Grand Prix for the property industry, held at Pole Position go-karting in Leeds and hosted by Severfield-Reeve Projects. The Gent Visick team just managed to squeeze past Colliers CRE to win, while investment director Matthew Hopkins recorded the fastest lap time of the day at 44.02 seconds. Is there any chance of speeding up the sluggish property market now, chaps?
